Scholarship	Contact	Deadline	Amount	Description
This scholarship spreadsheet is arranged by the month in which the scholarship application is due. Please go directly to the scholarship link for exact due dates, as they differ from year to year. The descriptions are color coded as follows: Green=students in multiple classes may apply (ie. Freshmen-Seniors). Blue= Seniors only may apply. Yellow= art related scholarships. Red= available to minorities or underrepresented students. Purple= special needs students only. Black underlined= volunteerism required. Pink background= athletic scholarship. Light blue background=STEM related field. Light grey background=financial need preferred or required. Scholarships which have quarterly due dates, varying due dates, ongoing or unknown due dates are posted at the end of the list. Financial institutions and banks are also at the end of the list. It is a good idea to ask your employer, and your parents' employers, if they offer any college scholarships. There are many academic, departmental and other scholarships available through the colleges and universities which are generally not included here. Please research those scholarships through those institutions directly. And remember to keep applying for scholarships while you are attending college as well! Many listed here are also for undergraduates.
